THE LAST OF HORNSEY WOOD.

THE LAST OF HORNSEY WOOD.

The famous rendezvous of metropolitan pigeon shooters is no more. Saturday last brought the history of Hornsey Wood House, as far as trap and trigger are concerned, to an end. The last shot has been fired—Bansher's last "blue" has toppled over within the boundary, and silence reigns about the Wood of Hornsey. Not that it was a wood for all that, but the name outlived the disappearance of the green trees, and the Wood of Hornsey was still a name after waving foliage gave place to brieks and mortar. Poor old Hornsey Wood House! whose annual matches were quite a feature in metropolitan sporting where annual matches were quite a feature in metropolitan sporting. Where Mr. Harathcork will now take 'my lords and esquires' is to us a mystery. But the old house and grounds are now required to to my not for a new park for Finsbury, and metropolitan extension cannot be checked. It may not be generally known that the old laws was originally a hunting box belonging to good Queen Bass, but such was the case! Well, there is much food for reflection here. When was originally a hunting box belonging to good Queen Bass, but such was the case! Well, there is much food for reflection here. When have grown since then, and here at the commencement of the year 1866, we find the rural retreat of the Maiden Queen turned into a park for the good folk of Finsbury. We should like to hear what Mr. Cox has to say on this subject.

G. V. BROOKE.

The history of the week has a sad episode in the death of G. V. BROOKE. The untimely end of our great tragedian, by the foundering of the ill-starred ship London, is a matter of universal regret, for it was the general impression that we had not seen the best of G. V. BROOKE. His career had not been one of the happiest. Fortune of the control of the

THE LATE FIGHT.

THE LATE FIGHT.

A very fussy and very silly gouleman is the rector of Godstone. He is fond of letter-writing, and has a peculiar sense of the duties of his position. A prize light between two naughty gladiators, named severally, Rooks and Rratz, took place under his very nose, one dirty morning last week, and he is ecandalised that condign punishment was not administered to all theorie concerned. If the Rector of Godstone had known the addresses of Rooks and RYALL, and the referee, he would in all probability have dropped them a line or two of a sort; but their whereabouts not being obtainable, the row, gentleman determines to vent his indignation on some one, however remoisly connected with the affair, and so he comes down upon the directors of the South Rastern Leituway, and charges them with "rendering assistance" to the prize flight, with having "facilitated the commission of a breach of the law, with dobsaing the influence they possess for advancing civilisation into a mean of retarding they had been a breath of the law, with dobsaing the influence they possess for advancing civilisation into a mean of retarding the process of the contract of the form of the law of the Rector of the same with the South Contract of the Rector of the wear of the contract of the law of the contract of the law of the same of retarding the law of the contract of the law of the contract of the law of the contract of the law of the law how Mr. SMLss suppose of the charges brought egames to con-pany:—

"The rector will observe from what has been stated, that the direc-tors of the company had no means of preventing the above passengers travelling to Godstone; that they could not prevent them alighting at Godstone; and that they could not prevent them fighting at God-stone. The rector will also observe that, beyond running a train, which by law they are compelled for run, the directors rendered no assistance and gave no sanction whatever to the prize fight as alleged, and that, in fact, they were no more responsible for the fight than the rector Godstone himself."

This was should saw would be a caution to the Rector of Godstone

Goldstone himself."

This we should say would be a caution to the Rector of Goldstone himself."

This we should say would be a caution to the Rector of Goldstone horder of life. To be so thoroughly annihilated, after bumptiously seeking a combat, is the very quintessence of ignominy, and the rev. gentleman must feel pitcouly small as he contemplates the completeness of his defeat with weapons he had deliberately chosen. Our daily contemporary, the Sandard, wisely advises all puglists to shun Goldstone in their future encounters, and points out the advisability of seeking those parishes where the cure of sould is confided to clergy who belong to the muscular Christianity school! Perhaps the Sandard will oblige us with a list of those parishes; we have no doubt the members of the P.H. would esteen it a great boon.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE.

Just now matters are very dull, but the publication of the weights for the important spring races must give a lively turn to market operations. The only speculations effected at the Club last Saturday were upon the Derby, for which Janitor, Knight of the Crescent, and Wolsey were alone backed. Neither Rustic nor Lord Lyon's name was mentioned, but the recent supporter of The Student offered to accept 11 to 1 about the Russley colt. The attendance was not large, and the only transactions which came under our notice were twenty "ponies" about Janitor, fifty "fifties" about Knight of the Crescent, and 1,000 to 15 against Wolsey. Anxiety begins to be vinced concerning the Spring Handicaps, and the Sturdays assemblies will in future be productive of more important speculations. At Tatersalts on Monday that the life, but was looking up, and a few out stdors were trunchester Cup formed the topic of conversations and mow and then people backed Mail Train, Solony Zambeel, and Watchbox. Mr. Tophan, the handicapper, came to town to have an interview with the stewards before he published the weights. The various trainers lots for this great race are as follows, to which we attach the weights: st lb Charley, 6 yrs

We hear great accounts of Mar Dawsov's and James Dover's horses, but it is ridiculous to speculate until the imposts have been properly sifted, or, parhaps, until the acceptances have been published.

THE SO-CALLED INTERNATIONAL TROTTING MATCH.

THE SO-CALLED INTERNATIONAL TROTTING MATCH.
As was anticipated, the match to determine the issue of two horsess supposed to be the Champions of England and France, was decided on Monday last, in the Bois du Bologne, in favour of the British representative, Sheppard F. Knapp. Both are, however, American bred, so an "international" affair is out of the question. Our readers will find a full account elsewhere; but we fully endorse the opinion of our correspondent, that the first match out of three, will settle the question of supremacy between Abdallah King and Knapp. We are pleased, however, that our lively neighbours are following in the wake of good old English sports.

The Working Men's Ollub had a gymnasium in Bathlene, but the property has now changed hands, and the club nust look elsewhere for some suitable rendezvons. There is a bowlingreen in Newcastle, and another at Gateshead, but they are both private subscription grounds, and inaccessible to the general public. A number of gentlemen, we are happy to say, have recently projected a scheme for supplying Newcastle with a public gymnasium, but as yet no selection has been made of the, two sites offered to them. They have entrusted the preparation of the plans to Mr. M. TROTTING.

GREAT INTERNATIONAL MATCH BETWEEN FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

It will be remembered that much assciement was caused some time ago on the announcement that a great match had been entered into howen two horass, supposed to be the representatives of England and France. The conditions were there should be three trials, that is to trot one mile, two miles, and three miles, £100 a side depending to the conditions were the should be three trials.

The 200 had been duly posted for the first affair, and $25 a side staked as a forfeit in event of either failing to go on with the second, for it was supposed that the first trial would estile the romainder Addallah King had been doing strong work for some time in Paris, while Sheppard F. Kunpp was trained at Ealing by his presumed womer, and only took a trip across the Channel on Friday last. If only be well to say that both horses are American bred, so an international match, in the proper sense of the word, is out of the may be well to say that both horses are American bred, so an international match, in the project sense of the word, is out of the question.

The race took place in the Bois du Boulogue on Monday last; the weather was delightfully fine, for the sun shone as brillianily as May, while London was saturated with rain, and locking as wetched as only London can look. It is not to be wondered at therefore, that the elifether of the Parisian sporting world were present, although the race, as it turned out, was quite unworthy of the large and inshionable gathering. The course was well kept throughout by the attendants of "the Bois." The distance was one mile in harmes; two false starts took place, when Abdallah King went away with the lead, and kept in front 29 yards for nearly half a mile, Knapp well in hand, and most admirably driven by Mr. Edwards. Mr. J. Redgah hand, and most afforizably driven by Mr. Edwards. Mr. J. Redgah hand, and most for the supposed Frachman, but, as son as called upon, Knapp went pto him, when Abdallah 'broke," and Sheppard, going in a style soldom if ever equalled, won abdallah King, but it is said that little money depended upon the castl.

As before observed, the next match to go two miles, is set down for the castle of the control of the set of the control of the part of the three, will settle the question, and the two next matcher to control Knapp to "broak." Abdallah king is what is termed a "runner"—trots before and gallops behind. It is believed that this, the first event of the three, will settle the question, and the two next matcher of the hard of Abdallah King and Sheppard P. Knapp were formerly the property of Mr. Edwards, the owner of the winner in the present gatch.

An unprecedented scene occurred at the Cirque Napoleon on Monday night, during the performance of Mr. Batty, the successor of Yan Amburg, who is now exhibiting in Paris. The moment he entered the wild beast's egge the lioness was observed to be in a terrible rage. The lions were also roaring and jumping about, and Mr. Batty seemed to have look his usual influence over them. The multic, fearing to see him torn in pieces, cried. "Go out, go out!" Mr. Daity took the advice, and earliessly withfrew, walking backwards. A few minutes before the commencement of the performance the lioness have a few many from the reason of the properties of the produced a second, young one, and the lions wanted to eat it—a propensity said to be very common with wild beasts when in a state of captivity.

This day, the Saturday Concerts and Promenades, at the Crystal Palace, will be resumed, when a collection of the works of John Gibson, R.A., will be on view, as well as a display of Camellias in bloom. Signor Ethardo will give a late performance at five o'clock.

GEORGE FORDHAM.

Fordham for some years has been at the head of the poll, and his return as the premier jockey of the season is naturally expected. Although James Grimshaw was at one period close upon Fordham's heels, George shock the fashionable "feather" off, and, salling on proudly, was gazetted with no fewer than 142 victories out of 414 mounts in the past season. Fordham, who is a native of Cambridge, has now been sixteen years before the public, each campaign increasing his popularity with the general public and his companions in the saddle. Fordham made his debut at the Brighton Autumn Meeting, October 33, 1850, where he rode a mare called laabella, but was unsuccessful, and became illustrious as a light-weight by winning the Cambridge-shire on Little David in 1853. In the following year he accomplished another memorable coup by winning the Ohester Cup on Epaminondas, and from that date he became perhaps the most popular light-weight ever known on the Turf. He was successful in the first legitimate race of the season of 1865, winning the Trial Stakes at Lincoln on Guardsman.

On the same day he won the All-aged Selling Stakes on Obron; and at Nottingham, where he next appeared in the saddle, he won the Stand Ptate (half a mile) on Hesper. At West Drayton he oredited his belows with five victorias—viz., on Stender, Cobweb, Thais, and vice on Peignoir; and at Donnester Spring Meeting he was again in Victoria Peignoir; and at Donnester Spring Meeting he was again in Vivia and the Municipal Stakes with Tragedy. He was nort successful at Chelmsford, in the first race of the Trial Stakes), wherein he landed Troublesome a winner by a head, after a tremendous finish with Lytham, Custance up. The same horses and jockeys meeting then next day in the Essex Stakes, they finished a dead-heat; but Fordham in the run-off nursed the mare with admirable skill, and won by a neck, although odds of 12 to 10 were laid on Lytham. Fickle was also a winner in his hands at this meeting, and he walked over for the Roding Stakes, with Canzonette, finishing up the week by winning on Birague and Confusion at Lewes.

In the following week, at Northampton, he won six races during the words, and the Wittledown'y Stakes with Brahms, Hor Majesty's Plate with Ackworth, the Delapre Free Handicap with Dawdle, the Spancer Plate on Paris, a Halleap Plate on Orytheia and the Althorp Park

Stakes with Macdonald. He rode next at Newmarket Craven, when he won a Sweepstakes (over the Rowley Mile) on his first mount, The Grinder, following it up with Cobweb, Catalogna, and Jack o' Lau'erra. On the following day he rode Siberia, the Mostiks mility, and The Monk; and on Wednesday, Thais, Brahma, Jack o' Lantern, and Troublesome, with all of whom he won, and commenced the soort on Thursday by winding the Sixth Newmarket Blennial (2 miles 110 yds) on Cambureau, defeating Ely, and he his-liked the day by four consecutive victories on Macdonald, Prince Plausible, Jack o' Lautern, and Canzonette.

Conzonction.

On Friday, the last day of the meeting, he had but three mounts, winning a match on Saffron; thus it will be seen seventeen winners were ridden by him during the week. At the Eyson Spring Meeting he won the index car. Old Stakes he again displayed his woulderful and it was a considered that the saffle by within the saffle by winning on Qui Vive by a head from Yalentine, and it is next credited as a winner in a £100 Plate, at the Newmarkot First Spring Meeting, on Troublesome, and the following day he woo on Todleben, Juneaton, and King Hal, in the Newmarket Two-yr-old Plate. Thursday was a great triumph, for he won the One Thousand Guineas with Siberis, in the popular "blue and white hoops" of the Duko of Beaufort—with whose colours he has now become so peculiarly identified; and on Friday Scheldt, Birague, and Kœnig were winners, with him in the saddle.

At Chester, he won the Belgrave Stakes with Pantsloon, and the Palatino Stakes on Dounybrook, the same horse winning the Flying Dutchman's Handicap, at York, in the following week. At Salisbury, he won the Wiltshire Stakes on Bagian, and a Handicap Plate with Grytheia. He rode a magnificent race at Bath on Friday, detecting Sydmonton by a head, after one of the finest struggles of the sean; and at Epsom, on the day preceding the Derby, he won the Tadworth Stakes on Jack o' Lantern. In the Derby, Fordham rode the Duke of Beaufort's Todleben, but finished only fifth. Fordham won the Epsom Town Plate with The Warrior, and rode Siberia in the Oaks, but was not placed. The Duko of Beaufort determined to run Todlebon in the Grand Prix de Paris, and Fordham went to France especially to ride him.

Pitt, for his uwal "century" in the Exeter Stakes, at the remunerative price of 9 to 1. A match on Convent completed his wins at the Newmarket July Meeting, and at Stamford he secured for his backers the Rutland Stakes, with Master Shutt, the Wotherpe Biennial with Redan (defeating Chibiss, on whom 6 to 4 was freely laid), and the Ketton Stakes with Ollerton.

At Winchester, he won Her Majesty's Plats with Syd monton, was succe-sful with Mr. Pitt at Southampton in the Cranbury Park Stakes, and the Stoneham Park Stakes; and the following week, with the same horse, he defeated The Primate and Auguste in the Lavant Stakes at Goodwood. In the Stewards' Cup he rode Paris, and finished hird to Out-and-Outer and Audax in the large field of thirty; won a Plate on Guardsman; the Cowdray Stakes with Idler; the Goodwood Derby on Longdown; and on Thursday, with the Duke of Beanfort's Ischia, upset a tremendous favourite in Valeria, in a Sweepstakes over the T.V.C.: winning the Sussex Stakes, also, with Jack-in-Green, and the Thirteenth Bentinck Memorial Stakes with Baragas. Atthe Brighton Meeting he rode Longdown, who defeated Le Mandarin, Stakes at Warwick he won with Dr. Syntax, after a rare set-to with Buckfoot and at this meeting he also won the Queen's Guineas with Ackworth, following suit at Leicester on Dr. Syntax. The Fitz-william Stakes at Donosaber (the first race of the mid to go was won by Master Richard, with Fordham in the Jaddle; and to 183 was won by Master Richard, with Fordham in the Jaddle; and to 183 was won by Master Richard, with Fordham rote The Duck, but he could onlock the Davis, Sisyphus (winner of a selling race) being also one of he would be decided home fourth, although at a mile and a quarter the Marquis of Hastings's coll booked very dangerous. On the same day he walked of the with Ackworth for Her Majestiys Plate; and on the following day he rode Rustie in a Sweepstakes (over the T.Y.O.), and beat a large field, finishing the Donosater Meeting by defeating Hippolyta for the Donosater Quarter Cappen and Ackworth. Fordham commenced the Nawmraket Fix Ostober Meeting by winning the Trial Stakes with The Lizard, the Grand Duke Michael Stakes with Londown, and the Hopferla Morand Forlorn on Mr. Pitt. At the Newmarket Second October Fordham won the Clearwell Stakes with Rustic, the Prendergast Stakes on Jack-in-

At Chelmstord he won on Menace and Dawdle; and on the first day at Ascct he won the Queen's Stand Plate on Saccharometer, following it up on the next day by winning the Coronation Stakes on Siberia, and a save-peakes with Troublesome. Wild Thyme, at Hampton, and Menace and the Cotytto coll, at Stockbridge, were his next victorious mounts, and the following day, over the same course, he would be supported by the control of the control of in the Biennial Stakes, and at the Club Meeting he placed two victories to his credit; with Paris, Pantaloon, and Lord Douglas. He increased the list, at Lewes, with Trap and Sydmonton, the last-named winning the Queen Catineas, wherein Caller On was a great fayourlies of the Good Catineas, wherein Caller On was a great fayourlies at edge of A. Wolverhampton, he wan the Lakins' Parse with Queen of Tramps, and the Onlitharton Stakes on Leis, commaneed the Reading Meeting by carrying off the Endoughed Park Stakes, with Crisis; and at Echam, one the Ankerypeke Stakes with Balornook, and Her Majesty's Plate with Sydmonton. His victories at Oxford comprised the County Men balors' Plate on Overstone, the Port Meadow Stakes with Menace, the Stratton Andley Narsery with Plying Jib, and the City Members' Plate on Stockinger—all these races being won after brillian; finishes.

At York August Meeting, he was wonderfully successful in the Duke of Beaufort's colours, winning for that nobleman the Convivid Stakes with Echia, the Spaling Stakes with the same fully (the following day), the North of England Beannil Stakes with Mr. Pitt (After a dead-heat with Blace Riband). The Leanington the Green, and on the last-mentioned horse he also won a sweepitakes of 50 sove each (ever the Ablagdon Mile) at the Houghton Meeting The Seron Handicap at the Liverpool Autumn Meeting was won by Gomma in his hands, and with Donnybrook, at Shrewsbury, he won the Wynnstay Cup.

It will be seen from the above that Fordisam's career during the season of 1855 was a most successful one, and in addition to a number of miscollaneous victories he won the Hopeful Stakes at Doncastor with Qui Vive, the Spencar Pisto at Northampton with Paris, the One Thousand Guineas with Spieris, the Flying Dutchmar's Handicap at York with Donnybrook, the Wiltshire Stakes at Salabury with Raylar, the Thirteenth Biennial at Bath with Friday the July Stakes with Robin Hood, the Wothorpe Park Stakes at Stamford with Redas, the Goodwood Derby with Longdown, the Convivial and Filly Sapling Stakes at York with Isohia, the Leamington Stakes with Dr. Systax, the Great Yorkshire Handicap at Doncaster with John Davis, a Sweepstakes over the T.Y.O. with Rutch, and the Doncaster Cup with Ackworth, Seven Queen's Plates were included in his victories—Northampton, Warwick, Doncaster, Winchester, Lewes, Egham, and Leicester.

Curanorri Wisson.—The conviction of this wretched woman, who, it will be remulated with season to death for murder, was confirmed in the conviction of the conviction of the wretched woman, who, it will be remulated with the season the gaming tables at Lador-bolt by M. Benzac, and which expires on the last day of 1807, has been proposed by the Grand Dags, on the proposition of his Ministers, to Describer 31, 1870.

In consideration of the great public services rendered to the country by the linetrieus father of the present baronet. Her Majesty the Queen was most graciously pleased to signify her wish to be godinother to the newly-born degister of Sir Robert and Lady Emiliated Wilsor, the child murderess, The arguments in the case when, after hearing the Solicitor General trial did not bar a second. The conviction and sentence of death recorded unanimously delivered their opinion that the discharge of the jury on the first trial did not bar a second. The conviction and sentence of death recorded against this woman therefore stands good, and unless the mercy of the Orown intervene the law will take its conviction and sentence of death recorded will be convicted to the conviction of the conviction in the conviction of the conviction in the conviction of the

PROSPECTUS.

This Company has been formed for the purpose effecting insurances on horses in the event of death accident.

The fact that there is no insurance company of the same description at present existing, and the desire to insure horses against casualties, promise a more than average amount of success to the undertaking, and from calculations based upor the general principle of insurance, is confidently anticipated by the directors.
